Noa Shuker, was born and raised in Be'er Sheva, Israel and is currently a third-year medical student at Ben Gurion University of the Negev.

In addition to her studies, she serves as a Casualty Officer in the IDF Reserves, working at two major hospitals in the south, Soroka and Barzilai.

In this role, she and her colleagues are responsible for receiving wounded soldiers arriving from combat zones, particularly Gaza. She handles notifying their families about their condition, and provides support to both the injured soldiers and their families throughout the hospitalization process, addressing their social, mental, and financial needs.
